Conversation with

AMBER
RUDDY

Based in Calgary, Amber was the author of the Canadian Federation of Independent Business (CFIB) Alberta Municipal Spending Watch Report that ranked Turner Valley worst in Alberta.

Amber is a dynamic and seasoned government relations and communications practitioner with over 7 years of experience in business advocacy at both the provincial and municipal levels. She is currently one of Alberta's leading business advocates recently joining Counsel Public Affairs.

Amber holds a Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Western Ontario and an executive MBA from Queen's University with a specialization in marketing strategy.

Interview by

CARRIE
FISCHER

Carrie believes in building strong communities by empowering individuals and families to become involved in local groups and decision making. She served for 4 years as a Councillor in Okotoks and 2 years in Redwater so she understands the challenges of budgeting faced by communities.

Carrie holds a bachelor's degree in social sciences, Economic Development training and has been the constituency manager for our Member of Parliament for the past 5 years.
